Based on your Table of Contents (Updated 5/28/26), I've selected quotes that are credible, thematically aligned, and suitable as chapter-opening epigraphs for A Practitioner's Guide to Servant Leadership. The strongest sources are Greenleaf, Covey, Drucker, Blanchard, Sinek, and Frankl because they reinforce the progression from control to agency that runs through my manuscript.

Foreword

"The best way to find yourself is to lose yourself in the service of others."
— Mahatma Gandhi

Prologue — The Baptism

"When we are no longer able to change a situation, we are challenged to change ourselves."
— Viktor Frankl

PART I — THE FOUNDATION FOR AGENCY

Chapter 1 — From Youthful Bliss to Dominance

"Nearly all men can stand adversity, but if you want to test a man's character, give him power."
— Abraham Lincoln

Chapter 2 — The Loosening of the Control Clamp

"Perfectionism is self-abuse of the highest order."
— Anne Wilson Schaef

Chapter 3 — From Breakdown to Breakthrough

"Out of suffering have emerged the strongest souls."
— Kahlil Gibran

Chapter 4 — A Plea for Intervention

"The curious paradox is that when I accept myself just as I am, then I can change."
— Carl Rogers

PART II — THE PHILOSOPHY EMERGES

Chapter 5 — The Emergence of a Win-Win Philosophy

"Think win-win is not a technique; it is a total philosophy of human interaction."
— Stephen R. Covey

Chapter 6 — From Advice to Coaching

"The key to successful leadership today is influence, not authority."
— Ken Blanchard

Chapter 7 — From Sympathy to Empathy to Agency

"Seek first to understand, then to be understood."
— Stephen R. Covey

PART III — THE PRACTICE

Chapter 8 — Emotional Intelligence as Leadership Infrastructure

"If your emotional abilities aren't in hand, if you don't have self-awareness, then no matter how smart you are, you are not going to get very far."
— Daniel Goleman

Chapter 9 — Communication That Creates Ownership

"The single biggest problem in communication is the illusion that it has taken place."
— George Bernard Shaw

Chapter 10 — Development Over Evaluation

"The purpose of an organization is to enable ordinary people to do extraordinary things."
— Peter Drucker

Chapter 11 — Facilitation as a Leadership Discipline

"None of us is as smart as all of us."
— Ken Blanchard

Chapter 12 — Personal Mastery and Organizational Design

"Personal mastery is the discipline of continually clarifying and deepening our personal vision."
— Peter Senge

PART IV — LEADERSHIP IN A COMPLEX WORLD

Chapter 13 — Bias, Free Speech, and Civil Discourse

"It is the mark of an educated mind to be able to entertain a thought without accepting it."
— Aristotle

Chapter 14 — Leadership in the Age of AI

"The real danger is not that computers will begin to think like men, but that men will begin to think like computers."
— Sydney J. Harris

Chapter 15 — Sustaining Credibility and Trust

"Trust is the glue of life. It's the foundational principle that holds all relationships."
— Stephen M. R. Covey

PMP TOOLBOX Introduction

"Knowledge has to be improved, challenged, and increased constantly, or it vanishes."
— Peter Drucker

The Final Chapter — The Gravity of Servant Leadership

This chapter deserves the defining Greenleaf quote:

"The best test, and difficult to administer, is this: Do those served grow as persons?"
— Robert K. Greenleaf

Epilogue — The Servant Leader's Legacy

Because your epilogue links servant leadership, agency, and faith:

"Whoever wants to become great among you must be your servant."
— Jesus of Nazareth (Matthew 20:26)

Or, if you prefer a broader audience:

"The meaning of life is to find your gift. The purpose of life is to give it away."
— Often attributed to Pablo Picasso

My strongest recommendation

If you want the book to be viewed as a serious contribution to the servant leadership field, use Robert K. Greenleaf quotes at the beginning of each Part, not just the final chapter.

For example:

Part I

"The servant-leader is servant first."

Part II

"The first responsibility of a leader is to define reality."

Part III

"Good leaders must first become good servants."

Part IV

"Not much happens without a dream. For something really great to happen, it takes a really great dream."

This would create a consistent Greenleaf thread running throughout the entire book and strengthen its credibility as a servant leadership text.
